

Simpson, Crawford & Simpson.

Important Sacrifice Sale of Cloaks, Furs, Suits, Wrappers, Tea Gowns, Waists.

The reasons for this Great Sacrifice Sale are that we have too many garments on hand for this time of the season, and that our long-observed rule not to carry goods over must be complied with. For said reasons this will be THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE SEASON to buy Cloaks, Furs, Suits, Wrappers, Tea Gowns and Waists. The advantages presented to buyers can only be fully appreciated by an inspection of the wonderful values resulting from this compulsory sacrifice.

Cloaks.

Navy, Black and Oxford Cheviot, English Beaver and Brown Covert Cloth Jackets,

5.98; reduced from $10.50.

Navy and Black Cheviot, Boncle and French Melton Cloth Jackets;

Black and Navy Cheviot and English Beaver Double Capes;

Golf Capes in Scotch Cheviot and Reversible Tartans;

Velour Capes trimmed with Thibet,

8.98; reduced from $10.75.

Black, Navy and Brown Cheviot, English Beaver, Chinchilla and Boncle Cloth Jackets, plain or trimmed with Brown Marten or Electric seal;

Golf Capes, lined throughout with Tartan plaids;

Kersey Cloth Capes (single and double), appliqued with velvet or cloth;

Velour Double Capes, trimmed with Black Thibet or Brown Marten,

10.98 and 12.98;

reduced from $19.75 and $24.50.

Imported Velour Capes (single and double), embroidered with jet and trimmed with fur,

16.98 and 24.98;

reduced from $27.50 and $35.00.

Imported Velour Double Capes, 36 inches long, trimmed with Black Thibet or Alaska sable, and handsomely lined;

29.98; reduced from $49.00.

Velour Coats, embroidered with jet and trimmed with brown marten,

37.98; reduced from $50.00.

Furs.

Russian Lynx, Astrakhan, and Canada Seal Circular Capes, 30 inches long,

$8.98; reduced from $10.50.

Astrakhan, Electric and Wool Seal Circular Capes, with Alaska Sable collar and edge, handsomely lined, 27 inches long,

$24.98; reduced from $39.00.

Brown Marten, American Sable and Moire Astrakhan Circular Capes, also Electric and Wool Seal Double Capes, plain or trimmed with Alaska sable or Thibet, $39.98; reduced from $50.00.

Persian Lamb and Alaska Sable Circular Capes, Moire Astrakhan Jackets and Double Capes, 30 inches long, $79.00; reduced from $125.00.

Alaska Seal Circular Capes (London dyed and dressed), 27 and 30 inches long, $98 and $130; reduced from $150 and $185.

Alaska Seal Coats (London dyed and dressed), 32 and 34 inches long, $145 and $198; reduced from $225 and $298.

6th Avenue, 19th to 20th St.

Suits.

Tailor-made Dresses in cheviot and Venetian cloths and fancy all-wool suitings, $12.98; reduced from $19.75.

Tailor-made Dresses in Scotch Cheviot, Whipped and Kersey Cloths, in two and three piece effects, $19.98; reduced from $33.00.

Balance of Street and Calling Costumes (copies of foreign models), silk lined, $40, $50, $60; reduced from $85, $95, and $110.

Separate Skirts in Silk and Wool Crepons, Silk and Satin Broadcases, Satin Duchesse and Rough Serges, at reduced prices.

Wrappers, Tea Gowns.

Imported Flannel Wrappers

(Hubbards, Princess and Peignoirs), in a variety of shades and combinations, with hand-embroidered revers and collars,

3.49 5.98

Were $9.75 Were $15.00

Cashmere and Crepon Wrappers, with velvets, ribbons and fancy passmenteries, Empire and Guimpe effects, Watteau backs,

2.75 and 6.75.

Silk Tea Gowns.

China and Surah, with lace revers, velvet yokes and sleeves (exceedingly pretty house dresses),

5.75 and 8.75.

Silk Waists.

Made of Surah, changeable and plain colors, with large sleeves,

3.25

Made of Broaded Taffeta and Satin Stripes, in black, dark colors and evening shades,

3.98 and 4.98

Silk Waists and Velvet Bodices

12.50 and 15.00

Theatre and Full Dress Waists,

in handsomely Broaded Silks and Embroidered Muslin, made by Paquin, Doucet and Worth,

49.00 and 59.00;

Formerly $98.00 to $175.00.

Imported Flannel Matinees

1.95 and 3.75.

Ladies' Flannel Bicycle Waists,

all colors, 98c.

6th Avenue, 19th to 20th St.

"CAMMEYER"

STAMPED ON A SHOE
MEANS STANDARD OF MERIT.

6TH AV., CORNER 20TH ST.

Monday, Jan'y 28.

EXTRA VALUES IN

LADIES' SATIN SLIPPERS,

$1.75;

former price $2.50 per pair.

Ladies' White Satin Slippers, French Heel . . . 1.75

Ladies' Pink Satin Slippers, French Heel . . . 1.75

Ladies' Blue Satin Slippers, French Heel . . . 1.75

Ladies' Nile Green Satin Slippers, French Heel. . . 1.75

Ladies' Lavender Satin Slippers, French Heel. . . 1.75

Ladies' Gold Satin Slippers, French Heel. . . 1.75

The above are new and regular lines of goods, comprising an endless variety of new and exclusive shades, and for style, fit, finish, and workmanship are unsurpassed, therefore every pair guaranteed to give entire satisfaction.

I have heretofore sold this grade of Satin Slippers at not less than $2.50 per pair; other dealers cannot duplicate equal quality for less than $3.00.

CAUTION.—HAYING NO AGENCIES OR BRANCH STORES. MY SHOES CANNOT BE PURCHASED OF ANY OTHER DEALER.

MAIL ORDERS RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION. FORTY-EIGHT PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE AND PRICE LIST SENT FREE ON APPLICATION.

A. J. CAMMEYER,

6th Av., cor. 20th St.

NEW YORK'S DENSE POPULATION.

An Average of Fifty-seven Persons to a House in the Tenth Ward.

The report of the Tenth House Committee again draws attention to the fact that the density of population in New York city is very rapidly on the increase. Only a few years ago the average number of residents to a house in New York city was fourteen, but that was before the era of flats and double decks. Now the population has mounted up steadily, so that in the Tenth ward of this city it numbers on an average fifty-seven persons to a house, and in the Seventh ward, adjoining, forty-three. The only downward trend in the city appears chiefly for residential purposes which retains an average of less than twenty-five tenants to a house is the Eighth, in which, through long leases, large numbers of small houses have been retained, particularly in the section between Varick and Hudson streets.

The compactness of the population of New York city, and more especially of the Tenth ward, is due in considerable measure to the fact that buildings have, by modern devices, been able to utilize the available space much better than formerly. The Tenth ward, with an area of 110 acres, has a total population of nearly 70,000, which is at the rate of 622 persons per acre, an average in excess of any other New York ward, and indeed of any large city in the United States. Short leases have been the destruction of small and old buildings, long leases mean overcrowding. Leases have more to do with the density of population than some philosophers admit.

NEW YORK'S HEALTH BOARD.

Peccolities About the Method of Choosing the Health Board.

The Health Board is peculiar among New York departments from the fact that three of four Commissioners are not chosen as Health Commissioners solely. The Health Board consists of four members. One, a civilian, the President, is appointed as other municipal Commissioners are, by the Mayor. The first of his colleagues is the Health Officer of the Port of New York, who is appointed by the Governor of the State, with the assent of the State Senate. The next of his associates is the President of the Board of Police Commissioners. In his case the appointive power is the Police Board. This one of the Commissioners takes his appointment from the Mayor, one from the Governor, and the third from the Police Board. There is still a fourth member, the most interesting feature of the board is that he is a practicing physician. In effect, there are two physicians and two laymen in the Board. Another peculiarity about the Board of Health is the fact that only two of its four members receive any salary as such, and that the two who are paid get different salaries, one the civilian receiving $8,000 and one the physician $10,000.

May Preach on a Gang of Firebugs.

Mrs. Sarah Silbermeister and Louis Rothman, who were sentenced on Friday by Recorder Gill to twenty-five and fifteen years' imprisonment respectively for arson in attempting to destroy the premises of Louis Weinberg, at 178 Canal street, were the guests of Rev. Father John Davis yesterday. It is supposed the conference was held in regard to testimony they wish to give about their firebugs in this city in the hope of thereby securing executive clemency. The Reverend Father, who has been a long time on the track of organized bands of incendiaries, and it is thought the interview related thereto.

Many Accused Election Officers.

Lawyer H. E. Oke of the City Club called at the District Attorney's office yesterday to submit the names of seventy-five poll clerks and election inspectors who served last November, with affidavits charging them with violating the election law.

It was requested that the witnesses in the cases should be summoned to appear next week before the Grand Jury.

The names of forty men charged with illegal registration were handed in by Secretary Fryer of the City Club.

B. Altman & Co.

Monday, Jan'y 28.

EXTRA VALUES IN

LADIES' DOMESTIC UNDERWEAR

39c., 45c., 58c., 65c., and 85c.

Also, 62c. yard.

TAFFETA SILK PETTICOATS,

$5.45 and 5.90

18th St., 19th St. and Sixth Ave.

WHO'S THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE?

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Send Each Other Warlike Utterances.

Mrs. Sigmond Simon departed on April 12 last from her husband's house, at 2 West 131st street, with her two children to the home of her father, Michael Sampter, at 2,138 Fifth avenue. The children are Jeannette, 9 years old, and Jacob, 6 years. Yesterday Simon, through his lawyers, Howe & Hummel, obtained a writ of habeas corpus from Justice Van Brunt of the Supreme Court requiring his wife and her father to produce the children in court to have the right to their custody passed upon.

Simon was in the clothing business for several years at Broadway and Bleecker street under the firm name of M. Sampter & Son. It was succeeded by the firm of Otto Sampter & Co., of which Sigmond Simon was the company. The new company went into business about the time that Simon married the daughter of Michael Sampter, which was Jan. 18, 1885. About four or five years ago the new firm was dissolved and Simon and his father-in-law have been living on their own since that time. Simon has been suffering from locomotor ataxia.

Simon took a dislike to his French governess and wanted to remove her. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while the wife was visiting at the home of her father, Simon made use of the occasion to send a letter to his wife, in which he told her that he had decided to remove the governess and to take the children to his father's house.

Simon had previously told his wife that he did not consider that the governess was attending to the children properly. The husband's wife, who thought her husband's objections were largely due to irritation caused by his illness, told her husband that she would not part with the governess. They lived together somewhat estranged over the matter. On April 11 last, while